

Project "Parents for Parents "

The aim of the project is to accompany parents in an advisory capacity during the transition of their children from day care to primary school and the primary school years. This should enable parents to shape their children's education together with the teachers.

The family is the first and most effective place of education. Successful cooperation between teachers and parents is therefore fundamental for the development of every child.

In the form of peer-to-peer support, volunteer parents are to take on a pilot role within the framework of the new project. These parent guides receive regular further training to prepare them adequately for the problems and questions of the parents they support.

"Parents for Parents" (EfE) is a sub-project of "Sprachentdecker" and is funded by the BHF Bank Foundation and the Office for Multicultural Affairs (AmkA).
